In a few days one of them came back, saying the diggings were good. Then the International company sent out men to look at them,, and these sent in favorable reports, which it is believed here they were instructed to do by the company. Engineers and all the people in town did everything they could to help the company get people down here.

"As for gold being found in Santa Clara, everybody knows the mines have been worked around there for years, and there is some gold to be found, but nothing like what has been reported. Of ail the 3,000 men at the diggings not twenty-five are working, and those that are working average about $2.50 a day. The rest are looking around for some place to work. Several poor fellows have sold their watches and blankets already to raise money to go back to San Diego. The country would be all right if the International company was out of it, but as long as English capital controls the country it is no place for an American to come for farming purposes or anything else. er Maxwell, of the Palace hotel. 'You didn't think of this when yo rronged me," he replied, "and now the w will have to take its course." Lieut. Schmidt proceeded to search the isoner, who had registered as Curran prisoner, who had registered as Curran Pope Taibott, of Louisville, Ky.

The first articles brought forth were a small napkin-ring and a little silver spoon. "Born with a silver spoon in your mouth, I suppose?" commented the officer.

Taibott is by occupation a civil engineer, although it is doubtful whether he ever had any practical experience in the profession. His mother is a wealthy widow living near Louisville, and he is closely related to the rich De Pauw family, of New Albany, Ind. Greatly in opposition to the wishes of his proud relatives, Taibott about three weeks ago ran away with a pretty but poor young girl and married her. The elopement resulted in his being disowned. The young couple came to the Paiace hotel in this city to spend the honeymoon. Taibott had counted on either obtaining employment or else being forgiven by his mother. He failed in both and soon his in this city to spend the honeymoon. Talbott had counted on either obtaining employment or else being forgiven by his mother. He failed in both, and soon his money gave out. To add to his unpleasant predicament, his bride was taken sick. When the hotel bill reached $90 the management demanded a settlement, refusing to be put off any longer with promises, Talbott went to Louisville, cast himself at the feet of his mother, who still proved unrelenting. Last Sunday he returned to Cincinnati, but kept under cover. He wrote a letter to his wife in sympathetic ink, making an appointment for a meeting at the Grand hotel. The letter fell into the hands of the police, and the engagement was kept by Detective Weppenstein. Early in the evening, when Talbott called at the Grand for a letter, he was placed under arrest, Manager Maxwell preferring the charge of obtaining food and lodging under false pretenses. Talbott sent a telegraphic appeal to his wealthy relative, among them his millionaire cousin of New Albany, and unless they come to his rescue or his romantic story softens the judge's heart, he will doubtless pay dearly for his mistortune, as the hotel people are determined to prosecute him to the limit as an example to others. He claims that he has tried to obtain work as a common laborer but failed. All the time his bill at the hotel was accumulating, as his wife was held a virtual prisoner in pawn, as it were, for what he owed. Talbott passed the night at the Central station. His bride is still at the Palace.

Young Talbot was very despondent over the western termination of his honey.

Palace.
Young Talbot was very despondent over the unpleasant termination of his honeymoon, and declared that he would kill himself. After being locked up awhile he was found to have in his possession a small vial containing a whitish liquid. For fear that he might put his threats into execution, the bottle was taken from him, although he protested it contained only milk.

A REPORTER'S REWARD.

The Search for a Life History Which Ended in a Wedding. New Haven, Conn., special: There was a quiet wedding in the little village of Terryville, Litchfield county, this afternoon, hat ends a pleasing love story and begins Connecticut girl. Miss Jennie Hart, the lopted daughter of a wealthy manufacturer of Kensington, was the bride, and the man she married is Thomas E. Nunenan, a reporter for the New Haven Morning News. Nunenan did not get his wife until he had put in some good work in the detective line in search of the young lady's parents. She refused to marry him until she knew the history of her early life. The only clew with which the ardent lover began the search was the knowledge that the lonely girl had been adopted from some Boston orphan asylum, and she had heard that her real name was Hayden. Nuneman hunted for a long time among the records of the many institutions in Boston without success. Finally, at the Little Wanderers' Home, on Baldwin place, the reporter learned that the girl whose history he was in search of had been taken in when six years old at the request of her grandparents. Her father had died within a few years after she was born, and the widow was supported by the town. The mother of the child would be only 38 years old if she were alive, but the superintendent preasons that she must have been ill then, as the town of South Coventry, Conn., was obliged to support her, and as they had never heard from her—not even a letter of inquiry having been received—she was undoubtedly dead. Mr. Conn., was obliged to support her, and as they had never heard from her—not even a letter of inquiry having been received—she was undoubtedly dead. Mr. Hart had taken the girl immediately after she was received from South Coventry in 1876. For weeks the young man hunted for some trace of his loved one's mother, but the fates seemed to be against him. He returned to his work at the office of the News, and after awhile he again started out. This time he was successful. He found the mother living in Rockville, married a second time and with several children by her second husband.

The sequel was as interesting as the original search. The little girl had been torn from her mother fourteen years ago by a grandiather, who, in order to be relieved of the expense of caring for the little one, gave her to the Little Wanderers' Home. He refused to tell the mother where her child was and died without revealing the secret. Soon after that she married Mr. Eldridge. Some time ago she saw a young lady in detective line in search of the young lady's parents. She refused to marry him until ot come. He suggested that, 12 years having passed,

HOW THE BOOM WAS STARTED.

He suggested that, 12 years having passed, it would be impossible to recognize the little girl in the person of the young lady, and besides she had in all probability been given another name. But the mother believed she would know her at sight, and gave proof that she could identify her. Nunenan's next interview was in executive session, and the public were not admitted. Two days later Miss Hart and her guardian, Mr. Woodruff, went to Rockville. Mrs. Eldridge was busy sewing in the mill where she was employed when her attention was attracted to a young lady who was being shown about the room.

"I wonder who that young beauty is?" Mrs. Eldridge said to a companion. The young lady passed through with the attendant and was for the time forgotten. A few minutes later Mrs. Eldridge was called to the office and greeted with the affectionate name of "mother!" Soon the Eldridge children were caressed by the sister whom they knew, but had never seen, and the sister found relatives of whose existence she had newly learned.

To-day Miss Hart or Hayden rewarded the tireless worker at the altar.

Swept by the Tide of Popularity

To the topmost pinnacle of success, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters stands a shining proof of what genuine merit, backed by the living force of proven facts, can attain. The North and South American continents, Europe, Australia, the West Indies, Guatemala and Mexico have all contributed wide patronage and testimony of the most favorable kind—but unsolicited—to swell the reputation of this sterling remedy. Among the maladies for which the most convincing public and professional testimony proves that it is a benign curative, are chilis and fever, bilious remittent, dumb ague and ague cake, dyspensia, liver complaint, nevousness, debility, kidney and bladder complaints. It mitigates the infirmities of age, hastens convalescence, has a tendency to prevent ill consequences from exposure and exhaustion. Persons of sedentary habits and laborious occupations will find it an ever useful tonic. the living force of proven facts, can attain.

An eminent physician says: A healthy liver secretes from two to three pounds of bile every twenty-four hours and disposes of this secretion where it will do the most good. Now if the liver is out of order, the whole system is in trouble, the spirits are depressed, the mind is not clear, and a person whose liver is not performing its duty is very soon unfitted for regular business. Dr. Henley's Dandelion Tonic rouses the torpid liver snd enables it to perform its proper functions, thereby regulating the whole system. Sold by R. S. HELENA, Oct. 7, 1887.

I was suffering from an unusually bad cough, my lungs were sore and congested, and I consulted one of the best physicians in Helena, whose prescriptions failed to relieve me. I became alarmed, and at the suggestion of a friend purchased a bottle of Acker's English Remedy for coughs, and after taking it according to directions was completely cured. I therefore cheerfully recommend it.

JACOB SWITZER.

I had a racking cough and inflamed throat and bought a bottle of Acker's English Remedy upon the recommendation of a friend, and was entirely cured by it. I consider it a never failing remedy for a cough.

Do you feel dull, languid, low-spirited, lifeless, and indescribably miserable, both physically and mentally; experience a sense of fuliness or bloating after eating, or of "goneness," or emptiness of stomach in the morning, tongue coated, bitter or bad taste in mouth, irregular appetite, dizziness, frequent headaches, blurred eyesight, "floating specks"
before the eyes, nervous prostration or exhaustion, irritability of temper, hot flushes, alternating with chilly sensations, sharp,
biting, transient pains here and there, cold feet, drowsliness after meals, wakefulness, or disturbed and unrefreshing sleep, constant,
indescribable feeling of dread, or of impending calamity?

If you have all, or any considerable number of these symptoms, you are suffering from that most common of American maladies—Bilious Dyspepsia, or Torpid Liver, associated with Dyspepsia, or Indigestion. The more complicated your disease has become, the greater the number and diversity of symptoms. No matter what stare it has reached, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will subdue it, if taken according to direcjions for a reasonable length of time. If not cured, complications multiply and Consumption of the Lungs, Skin Diseases, Heart Disease, Rheumatism, Kidney Disease, or other grave
maladies are quite liable to set in and, sooner or later, induce a fatal termination.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery acts powerfully upon the Liver, and through that great blood-purifying organ, cleanses the system of all blood-taints and impurities, from whatever cause arising. It is equally efficacious in acting upon the Kidneys, and other exerctory organs, cleansing, strengthening, and healing their diseases. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, it promotes digestion and nutrition, thereby building up both flesh and strength. In malarial districts, this wonderful medicine has gained great colebrity in curing Fever and Ague, Chilis and Fever, Dumb Ague, and kindred diseases.

which is Scrofula of the Lungs, is arrested and cured by this remedy, if taken in the earlier stages of the disease. From its marvelous power over this terribly fatal disease, when first offering this now world-famed remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "CONSUMPTION CURR," but abandoned that name as too restrictive for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequaled, not only as a remedy for Consumption, but for all Chronic Biseases of the Liver, Blood, and Lungs.
